TOPIC: OFFICIALS RECRUITMENT #1

We are making great progress, but there remains a shortage of WIAA licensed officials for a number of high school sports in Wisconsin and nationwide. We owe a debt of gratitude to those that have committed their time and effort to ensure we are able to sustain education-based athletics, because without officials, there are no games. If you have what it takes to make the right call, please don't hesitate. An exciting and rewarding experience is calling you. So, let's get you licensed as sports official by accessing the "Officials" tab at the top of the WIAA website homepage to get started. TOPIC: HIGH SCHOOL SPORTS PERSPECTIVE #1

Why do so many teenagers play high school sports? Some participate for a sense of being a part of something with a purpose. Some participate for the the love of competition or for the lifelong friendships they develop. Very few indicate they participate to get a college scholarship, because the truth is only about two-to-three percent of all high school athletes receive an athletic scholarship. Whatever the reason for playing, student-athletes enjoy all the benefits of participation, including making better decisions. TOPIC: HIGH SCHOOL SPORTS PERSPECTIVE #2

Being a teenager is tough. There's the constant pressure to be liked, endless worrying about college, cyberbullying, high expectations, and all the negativity. What do Wisconsin's teens do when they want to block out the noise and clear their heads? They play. Research shows that teenagers who participate in high school sports have lower stress levels, more confidence and greater self-esteem. And, then there's the biggest benefit of all – high school sports are fun. Not just fun – they're a lot of fun. Encourage teenagers to participate in high school sports. They'll stress less and smile more. And they'll be laying the foundation for a happier, healthier future. A message from (insert station) and the WIAA, keeping the education in sports.

TOPIC: HIGH SCHOOL SPORTS PERSPECTIVE #3

Why is interscholastic sports participation considered the last classroom of the day? Because they teach students important life lessons, like teamwork, accountability and perseverance. High school sports are so much more than a game or a source of entertainment. They are about developing the whole person. That's why they we consider them an essential part of every student's education. Parents, encourage your student to participate in the last classroom of the day – interscholastic sports.
